CANDIDS

There is no substitute for character, and there is no rule about where you find it.

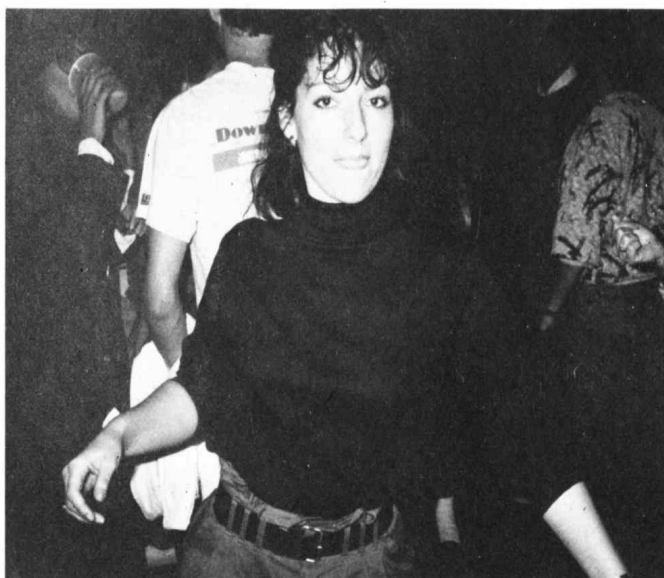

— Louis Nizer

Law isn't something that exists
as a closed system within itself, but draws its juices from life.

— Felix Frankfurter

Friends are those rare people who ask how we are and then wait for an answer.

I am the law.
— Frank Hague

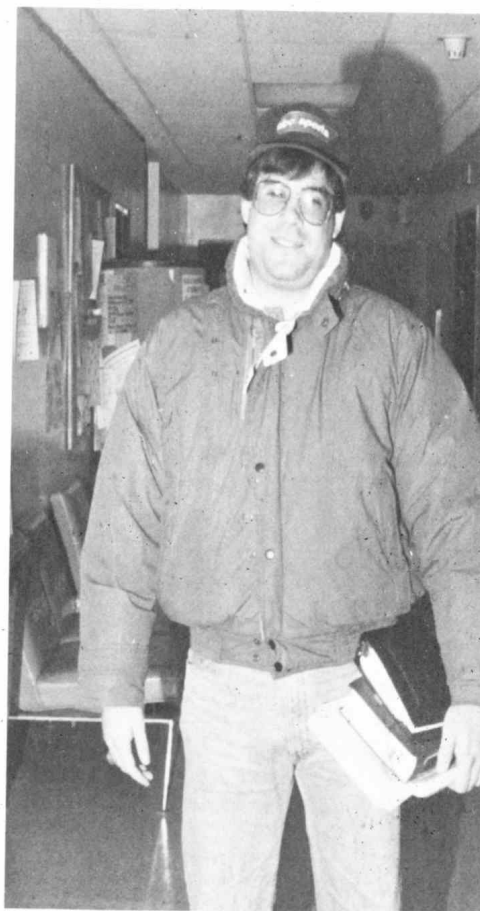

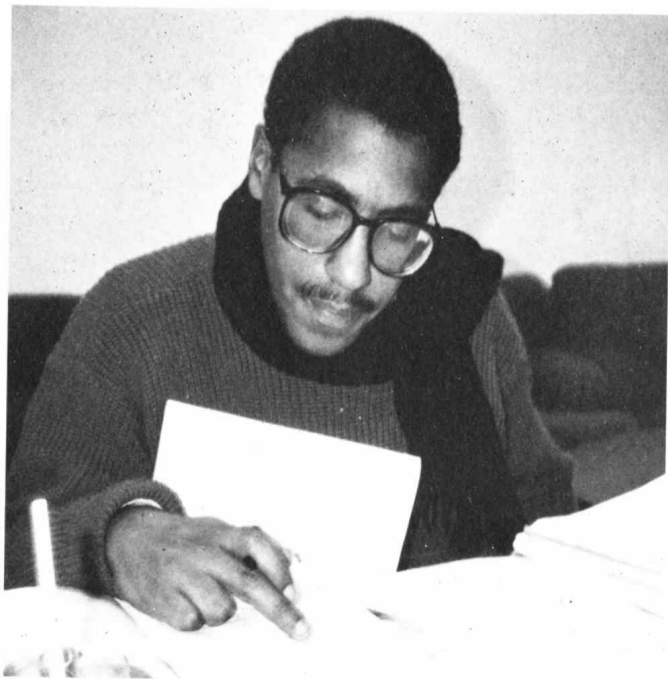

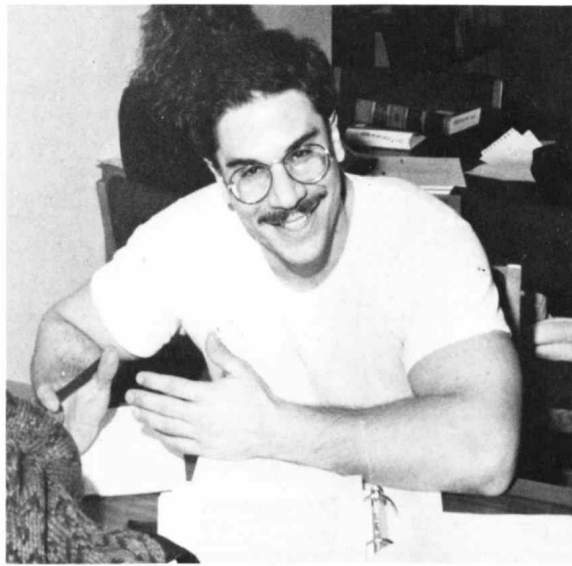

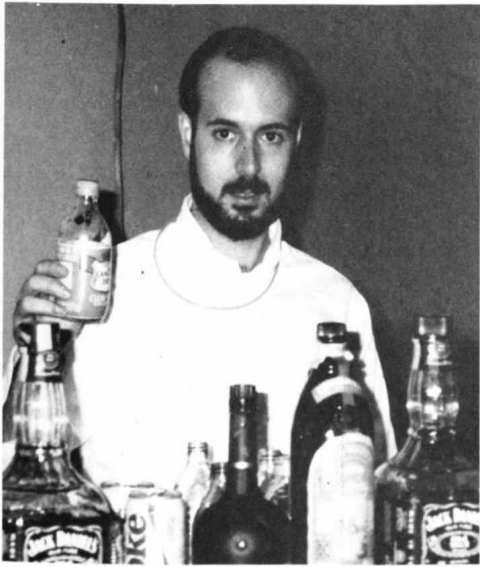

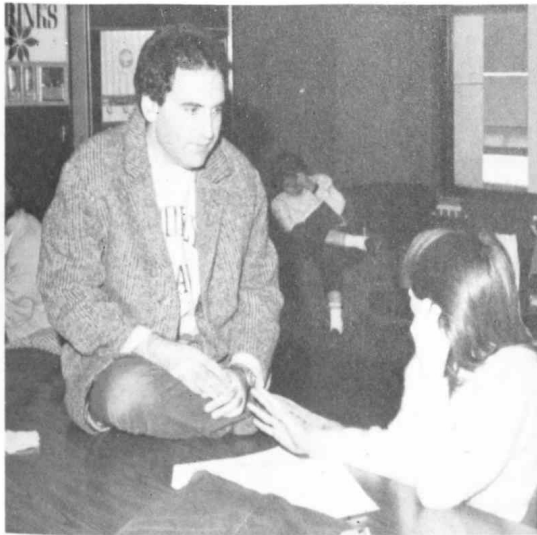

Lawyers better remember they are human beings, and a human being who hasn't his periods of doubts and distress and disappointments must be a cabbage, not a human being.

— Felix Frankfurter

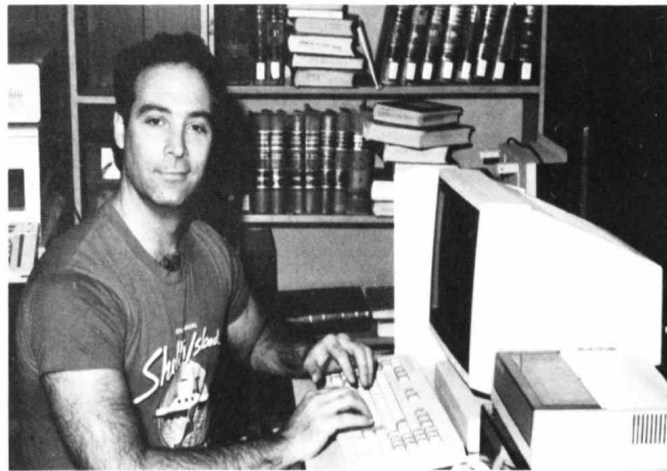

We ought not be satisfied with mediocrity, when excellence is within reach.

— Joseph Story

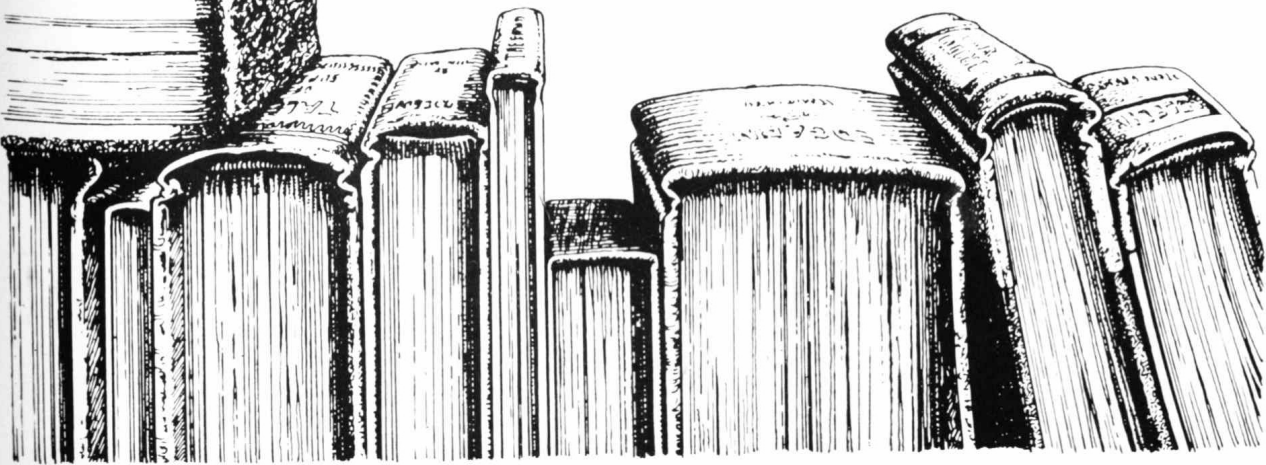

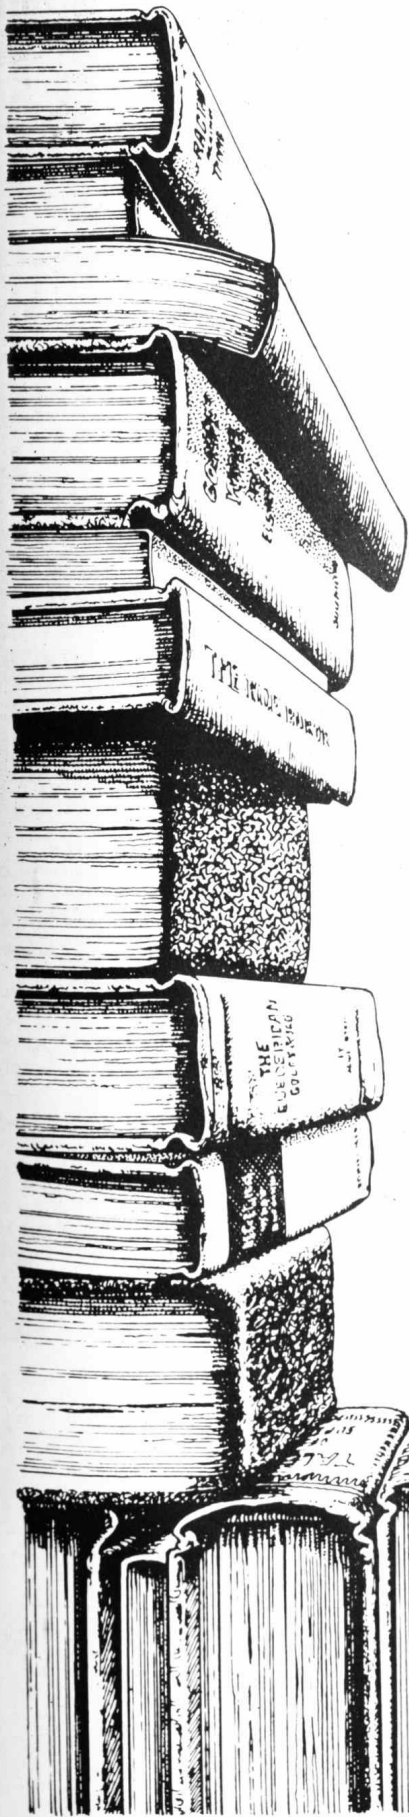

This yearbook is dedicated to the memory of DEAN EMERITUS JEROME A. PRINCE to whom our school owes a profound debt of gratitude for his many years of loyal and exemplary service. His many academic and professional achievements, and his prominence as a dean, professor, lawyer, author, activist, and scholar serve to remind and inspire us to achieve the sort of excellence that was his hallmark. He will surely be missed.
